Congregational Church

Men's dominion to-day is greater than it has been in historic times because he is better than he ever was, save at that point in pre-historic times, when he came from the hands of his Creator as perfect as God could make him without a personal test for self-determination. Control of nature is co-extensive with control of self and man never behaved himself in historic time as well as he does now. This improvement is due to the influence of the pointers Jesus has given man in the right philosophy of life and which man is using today as he never has used it before.

It is to his advantage to learn of Jesus the way to live, for Jesus would not have taken on a human form to redeem and teach us the way to live on the plan of truth if there could have been a better way. Jesus created us and Jesus ought to know what was best for us. He is man's guide through life. He is the model they are to follow in their life work, the picture of holiness they are to reproduce and the Bible is their book of rules. Out of himself the proud wise man has drawn rules in all ages and is doing it now but he has always failed. At 11 a. m. Sunday we will give the orders of the Captain of our Salvation that have never failed. At 6:30 Y. P. S. C. E. and Mrs. McAllister will be leader. You are invited. At 7:30 evening worship. God is omnipotent and infinitely good to man when man does not prevent it. He has given us a free will and will try not to do such a thing as to compel our love. He will turn upside down any law of nature that the salvation of his child may require. God has made nothing. He will not speedily unmake to succor the microcosm that bears his image when the man the apex of creation puts himself in the right position. The modus operandi of God we do not know, but we will show the results of his great love for the human race. We beseech you in God's stead. Come to the Lord's house and learn of him.

TOM MAITLAND COMMITS SUICIDE.

Blows His Head into Atoms with Shotgun — Old Age and Despondency the Cause of Rash Act

Thomas Maitland, who had resided in this valley for over forty years, committed suicide at Agua Caliente, some time last Tuesday in a most dreadful manner.

Maitland, who had threatened to blow his brains out last week, took a loaded shotgun and pressing the muzzle between his eyes, pulled the trigger with his right thumb and blew his head into atoms. The suicide took place in his cabin at Agua Caliente, where he had lived in solitude for a number of years.

The body of the suicide was discovered by rural mail carrier J. B. Morris, who in making his daily rounds stopped at Maitland's cabin and found him lying where he fell after firing the shot which surely had killed him instantly.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan was notified and proceeding to Agua Caliente took charge of the remains and brought them to this city and placed them in Bates' undertaking parlors, where an inquest was held Wednesday morning, and a verdict of deliberate suicide was rendered by the coroner's jury.

The cause of Maitland taking his own life was old age and despondency The deceased was a single man, a native of Pennsylvania and aged 70 years.

Illegal Fishing.

The editor of this paper is reliably informed by farmers in the western part of the valley that illegal fishing is being resorted to almost daily by foreigners and small boys in Fowler Creek. This practice has now been going on for over a month, and when the season for trout fishing opens on the 15th of next month it is safe to assume that those fishermen who observe the law and pay a license of $1.00 annually for the privilege of fishing will find that stream and other small creeks in this valley have been practically fished out by the violators of the law.

This practice ought to be stopped by arresting, convicting and fining the violators of our fish laws to the very limit. If a few examples are made of the malefactors it will put a stop to the nefarious practice and the decent sportsman could then have a whack at the fish himself, when the season opens.

The Bachelor Maids met at the home of Miss Matilda Baccala Wednesday. Friends from Petaluma being present, their sewing was was laid aside and music and dancing indulged in until a late hour. Light refreshments were also served.

SONOMA POSTOFFICE GOES TO WAGNON.

There Were Several Aspirants for the Job but Congressman Kent Gets Behind the New Appointee and He Wins Out

John D. Wagnon of this city is in receipt of an official notification from Washington of his appointment as Postmaster of Sonoma under the Wilson administration, as against the several other Democratic aspirants for the job.

The new appointee, who will succeed J. M. Cheney, who has held the office for twelve consecutive years under a Republican administration and one year under the present regime, is an old resident of this city and at present a member of the Board of City Trustees. He is in the prime of life, up-to-date in his methods and ought to make a satisfactory postmaster. His wife, the popular secretary of the Sonoma Valley Woman's Club, will no doubt be his assistant.

The appointment of Mr. Wagnon came as a surprise to the old-line politicians of this city, who did not think he had one chance in a million of landing the prize but Congressman Kent put one over on them.

It is rumored that a new postoffice building is soon to be erected on the lot adjoining Robt. A. Poppe's law office on First street East, but has not as yet taken tangible shape.

Just when the new Postmaster will assume his duties we are not advised, nor does he know himself as to a certainty, but it will probably be within a week or two.

Sonoma Depot Robber Sent to Jail for Five Years.

Jack Bragg, the cracksman who was captured in quite a sensational manner by Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan in this city, immediately after dynamiting and looting the safe of the Northwestern Pacific railroad a couple of months ago, pleaded guilty of burglary in the second degree in Judge Seawell's department of the Superior Court, last Monday and was sentenced to serve five yeaas in San Quentin prison.

The cracksman, who is an old offender, having served a sentence of ten years in the Folsom prison for burglary, when questioned by Judge Seawell as he was about to pass sentence upon him, stoutly maintained that he was innocent and a victim of circumstances. Just how the crook could have the nerve to make such an assertion to his honor is beyond one's comprehension, as he was caught red-handed by officer Ryan after the hour of midnight as he was trying to make his get-away from the depot after blowing open the safe.

NEW OPERA HOUSE FOR THIS CITY.

It Will Have a Seating Capacity of 500, with Box Seats and Gallery and Up-to-Date in Every Particular

John F. Picetti, secretary and manager of the Sonoma Valley Furniture Co., and secretary of Sonoma's Chamber of Commerce, and one of our most progressive citizens, is planning to erect in this city an up-to-date opera house which will be built on the same lines of the Mystic theatre of Petaluma. The new show house will be thrown open to the public in a month or two as a first-class theater. There will be 25-cent shows every Saturday and Sunday evening, and a five-cent motion picture show will be staged the other evenings in the week. It is also planned to give matinees Sunday and Wednesday afternoons.

This new opera house will supply a long-felt want in this city as it will be large, roomy and comfortable and give our people the "movies" at five cents, the same as is charged elsewhere instead of the 10-cent admission that has prevailed in this city.

We predict for this new amusement house success from the very outset.

An Exciting Runaway

Tuesday morning, while Mr. Grothorpe and son of Schellville were purchasing a load of lumber from Adler's lumber yard their horses ran away. It appears that one of the traces became entangled with the animal's hind feet, causing them to strike out at full speed down Spain street with the two occupants on board. The frightened steeds continued their wild flight on to Napa street and were finally brought to a standstill in front of the Grammar School. Just before reaching the above place, the kingbolt on the lumber wagon dropped out, leaving the one part of the wagon behind. A number of residents witnessed this thrilling incident and were loud in their praise to father and son for staying with the runaway team and stated that it was a miracle that they were not killed.

AGUA CALIENTE.

Edward Morris of Home Farm drove over to Petaluma Saturday evening.

E. Herman of Caliente Park, the popular tonsorial artist at Boyes Springs, had a very narrow escape in a runaway last week.

James Martin, a valuable member of the United Railroads of San Francisco, is making his debut at Agua Caliente Springs

The Sonoma Valley Lumber Co. is doing a rushing business, having received five carloads of lumber in the past few days via the S. P.

Henry Nepveu, representing the Caliente Mineral Water Co., has returned from the northern part of the state. He reports business good and is well pleased with his trip.

O. W. Brown is quite busy superintending the contract of painting Mrs. Holly's cottage on Main street. Mr. Brown states that if contracts keep on pouring in the way they have of late, he will have to put on an additional force of men.

Have you got your ticket? Don't fail to! The biggest social event ever given at Agua Caliente, Saturday evening, March 21st. I love the eclipse but O you moonlight dance !

Thos. Maitland, one of the oldest pioneers in this part of the valley, committed suicide last Tuesday morning. He had been in very poor health of late and had lost all hope or getting better.

CHAS. SPINDLER IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Writes About Panama and Peru and Other Latin Republics.

The steamer Mexico of the Pacific Steam Navigation Co. will take me as far south as Mollendo. We left on February 6th at noon from the Balboa wharf, owing to low tide, but anchored outside under the new fortifications till sundown. The blasting and dynamiting on these, particularly the highest hill, went on all the afternoon. It is claimed that these fortifications will be a second Gibraltar when finished.

Our first port should have been Guayaquil, but owing to yellow fever there we did not stop, but made Payta our first port. Right after anchors were dropped about two dozen hat peddlers came on board and I purchased two of good quality at a very reasonable price. The following day we made Pacamayo, where a big cargo of sugar was taken on, but no passengers went ashore owing to the high seas. There we left the torrid zone and the air aboard ship became very pleasant.

As we rounded Point Agaja, the most westerly point of South America, we came into the Humboldt current which cools the coast of western South America in about the same way as the Japanese gulf stream furnishes warm water and in consequence warm climate along California's shore. Next we made the port Sallaverry, where five hundred tons of cargo was unloaded and about the same amount taken on—guano, sugar and rice. Went ashore and visited the sugar factory, but it was so terrible hot that I was glad to get back on board ship.

On February 2d we landed in Callao and went immediately on shore and made the trip to Lima, the capital of Peru, by trolley, a distance of six miles, in half an hour, and found the Hotel Maury a good stopping place. On the 3d I visited with a young engineer, who came all the way with me from Balboa, the Catedrale. This is a magnificent structure and wonderfully rich inside, remodelled though a century ago. The 8-inch by 16-feet columns around the altar, made of wood, are covered with a solid shell of pure gold, and in all eight niches. Around the main choir are smaller altars glistening in polished gold and silver. The wood carving and tapestry, which is magnificent and well kept, are old, mostly furnished by Spanish Kings some 350 years ago in return for gold; also some of the large paintings along the side walls are of famous masters, although some are copies. The main interest to tourists centers in the glass shrine with Francisco Pazarro's bones and in the same shrine is also visible a metal tube, said to contain a parchment with the commission by the King of Spain to the explorer. A marble stone on which this coffin is resting, explains that Pazarro founded Lima in 1535 and died (murdered) in 1941. A stone near a step in the Palacio indicates where he fell. This Cathedral is on the north side, the Palacio (palace) on the west side of the Placa de Armas. Crossing over to the palace I took note of the well-kept streets, sidewalks and the beautiful flowers and trees in the plaza. We passed through the palace but were not permitted to go upon the second floor, which is unusual but the reason we learned the next morning.

The afternoon, after a good lunch with Chilenean wine, we spent in the botanical and zoological garden and in the Park. There are fine specimens of some wild animals and also some rare plants, of which I collected some seeds. But the most surprising plant to me was an almost spineless cactus, I judge over 50 years old. The thorns on this were fewer and softer than on a leaf of three years growth of a genuine Burbank and I have come to the conclusion of my own, that Burbank got his original from the botanical garden of Lima.

After supper in the restaurant of the Hotel Maury, where an Austrian ladies' orchestra played some Danube waltzes and during which we had occasion to view the beautiful Lima feminine world in their rich laces and x-ray gowns, we took in a moving picture show, but it was so beastly hot in this we were glad to get out onto the plaza and rested an hour before retiring, So sound did I sleep, in spite of flees and other bed companions, that I heard nothing of the shooting connected with or caused by the Revolution. On this 4th of February during the night the minister of war and head of the army was killed and the President Guillormo Billinghurst put into jail. His wife, children and other relations found protection in the American legation. I ventured out into the street saw every door and window closed tightly but the sidewalks crowded with people in Sunday attire.

Going just a block and a half, I noticed the crowd pushing on and running and firing in back of them came a troop of cavalry. I sought shelter but could see no open door. But on the next corner I noticed a half open door and in I went. Not having paid any attention to a sign on the outside I was surprised to find myself in a cantina, filled with people, mostly foreigners, Germans and English speaking, eating sandwiches and drinking beer and discussing the revolution. The keeper of the cantina told me that during the 35 years of his life in Lima he had witnessed 22 revolutions and such days were always good bnsiness days. After the mob had been chased away and the firing ceased I went into the street again and met a fellow passenger from the Mexico. He calls himself Dr. Warren and is making this trip to write a story for the Bingville Gazette's Sunday edition, likely one of Jack London's class. He was bleeding on the left cheek and claimed that a bullet grazed him. I am sure that it was nothing but a cut with a razor.

All told about 60 people, including soldiers, were killed, however the excitement was great and many innocent people were put into jail, for instance the wireless operator and the 2nd and 4th officer of the S. S. Mexico passed a sleepless night, fighting bugs and snakes in a dungeon in Calleo and it took a big quantity of stimulants to regale themselves after they were released through the efforts of the Captain and the English Consul. The S. S. Mexico is sailing under the English flag.

"Malinda,"

Starlight of El Verano:—It was with joy I read your kind advice to "Adeline" and it was very thoughtful of you to remember me, but still it seems to me that the El Verano ladies like Vineburg somewhat, or at least its native sons. Of course I would like to take a trip to the moon with fair "Adeline" and have the knot tied but "not" to tight, as the moon might look black like it did Wednesday night. Catch on? I would like to cut out the mushrooms and forests of fungi and substitute a barrel of evaporated saurkraut and a keg of Sonoma steam. Then we could sail through space and in case we fell out of the airship we wouldn't know what struck us. Come along "Malinda" and have a good time. Your welcome.

Sincerely yours.

Socialist Party to Observe Woman's Day.

March 19th is International Woman's Day. It is to be observed as such by the Socialist Party throughout the United States and Europe. Such an observance is an indication of the impression the feminist movement has made on the labor movement of the world.

The day is most commonly observed by the holding of meetings, for the discussion of such topics as suffrage, special legislation for women, condition of women and children in industry, world peace, and kindred subjects of interest to the modern woman. Meetings will be held on that day in many of the cities and towns of California.

Sonoma Socialists will observe the day by distributing the Woman's Day edition of the Social Democrat, a weekly paper published by the Socialist Party in this State.

EL VERANO ITEMS.

Mr. Louis Kearney has purchased the El Verano Lumber Yard and is now ready for business.

Mrs. James Baines and Mrs. A. Block were visitors in Kenwood the fore part of the week.

Mr. Henry Kreft, a prominent grocer of San Francisco, is spending a three weeks vacation at Oak Grove Resort.

Mr. T. H. Baines and Mr. Louis Kearney went to Santa Rosa Monday to close the deal for the Peterson lumber yard.

Mr. A. Chelini, the wood and coal merchant of this place, met with a painful accident, by breaking his finger, one day last week.

Mr. Harry Clement and daughter, Olive, were visitors in the metropolis last Sunday. Miss Clement, although a native daughter, had her first trip to the bay city.

Mr. H. Kemp, H. Grain, Shovel Heur, filler boss and Mr. Shuman, Jr., chief stave slapper, from the Rhinefarm were visitors in El Verano Sunday.

Mr. Koerner went to San Francisco Thursday, where he went to make arrangements for a shooting carnival, to be given by the San Francisco Scheutzen Verein at Oak Grove.

A lot of summer visitors can be seen wandering among the lofty trees at the famous Sonoma Grove. This place is certainly coming to the front as one of the finest in Sonoma Valley.

Mr. Eugene Davitson, a well-known El Veranoite, has just returned from a lenghtly trip to Oaklahoma where he disposed of some property. We are glad to see your smiling face again, Jean.

The Buena Vista quartet, consisting of M. J. Shafer, Mr. A. Sherman, G. Wolff and C. Baltisburger, gave a pleasant entertainment in music and song at Oak Grove last Saturday night.

It seems that broken fingers are fashionable. Mr. W. Block is at his home here nursing the middle finger of his right hand. He managed to get his finger into some of the machinery at Rhinefarm.

It is beginning to look like the good old summer time at the Bellevue Hotel. A number of guests can be seen reclining on chairs in the sunshine and shade which can always be found at this pleasant resort.

On Thursday morning the horse of Mr. Johnson, of Glen Ellen, became frightened and ran away while Mr. Johnson was inspecting trees at the S. P. station here. When last seen it was going through the suburbs of El Verano with Mr. Johnson in pursuit.

For sometime it has been a common occurence to see a young man and his lady on a tandem motorcycle. As motorcyles are scarse in El Verano and the young men don't want to lose out, last Wednesday one of them took his young lady to the springs on the handle bars of a common bike.

The great and complicated question of the unemployed is to be solved. Next Saturday evening, March 21st, the debating teams of Sonoma and Cloverdale High Schools will exchange arguments on the following question: Resolved—That in times of depression municipalities should give employment to the unemployed. Sonoma supports the negative and Cloverdale the affirmative. This is a white hot question that is being considered in almost every large city in the world, so don't miss the chance to find out something about it, because both sides will be presented. A small admission fee of 20 cents will be charged to cover expenses.

The Plaintiff, above named, has brought an action against you, and each of you, in the Superior Court in and for the County of Sonoma, State of California, entitled as above, and has filed the complaint in said action in the office of the County Clerk of said County, who is ex-officio Clerk of said Court.

And you are, and each of you is, hereby directed to appear and answer the complaint in said action within ten days after the service on you of this summons—if served within said County; and if served elsewhere and without said County, then within thirty days after service of same upon you.

And you are hereby notified that unless you so appear and answer as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint, as arising upon contract, or it will apply to the Court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.
